

Powerball Jackpot Update

Just like other enterprises around the world that are making adjustments, Powerball® is taking steps to ensure the game continues to support good causes in all 48 U.S. lottery jurisdictions.

What change is happening to the Powerball drawings?

Following the next Grand Prize win, Powerball's jackpot will reset to a guaranteed $20 million (annuity) with guaranteed minimum $2 million (annuity) roll increases between drawings. Previously, Powerball jackpots reset to $40 million (annuity) with minimum roll increases of $10 million.

Why is this happening?

Powerball players in many U.S. lottery jurisdictions are under shelter-in-place orders or recommendations from their governors or mayors, which have affected normal consumer behaviors. In addition, many lottery retailers have adjusted their operating hours. The jackpot changes are necessary to protect the Powerball game and to continue to offer drawings every Wednesday and Saturday night.

Is it possible for the Powerball jackpot to increase by more than $2 million between drawings?

Yes. If stronger ticket sales and higher interest rates support a higher advertised jackpot, then the Powerball jackpot will increase by more than $2 million between drawings.

Is this change permanent?

A collective group of 38 U.S. lotteries, known as the Powerball Product Group, will determine how long this change will last.

Does this change apply to any other lottery draw games?

No. This change only applies to Powerball.
